

NOTICE

Bank of Jamaica is aware that unscrupulous persons falsely purporting to be representatives of the Bank have been contacting individuals with claims of funds being held by the Bank on their behalf for collection.

These persons have also provided documentation, purportedly coming from the Bank, in support of the existence of these funds.

Central banks are bankers only to banks and to their respective governments, and the Bank wishes to advise that as the central bank of Jamaica, it has no dealings with or involvement in holding funds on behalf of any individual member of the public.

Bank of Jamaica will not be responsible for any legal or other consequences that may arise directly or indirectly as a result of anyone's reliance on such notification in any attempt to collect these funds, and members of the public are strongly advised to disregard any such notification and instead notify the police.
